Yes, Everything Seems In

“You illegally crossed our border? You’re a drugs and weapons importer? You’re a sociopath, Spewing venomous wrath? Yes, everything seems in order.” (2002) --Your Weekly Politickle by F.R. Duplantier

The Tsarnaev brothers, “suspects” in the April 15 Boston Marathon bombings had one immediate objective in mind when planting explosive devises among the crowds near the race finish line—kill Christians and Jews for Allah. Tragically, four people died at their hands, including an eight-year-old boy, and 282 were wounded—34 seriously. But what a bummer for the captured surviving younger brother who received compassionate emergency care at Boston’s Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center. Yup, those Jews are real pigs!

Even as many nations, now led by the USA, are committed to the absurd notion that worldwide Islamic violence can be assuaged by dividing up the land that God gave to Israel, Jacob’s offspring continue to turn the other cheek—doing good to those who persecute them. As in Boston, if a Jew-hating “Palestinian” in Israel needs urgent specialized medical treatment “he will in no wise be cast out.” He will be afforded the most expert care available anywhere on the planet. In fact, in the world of science, medicine, agriculture, and technology, arguably no single ethnicity is doing more to ease the plight of humanity than are the Jews.

“At least 187 Jews and people of half [or more] Jewish ancestry have been awarded the Nobel Prize... accounting for 22% of all individual recipients worldwide between 1901 and 2012, and constituting 36% of all US recipients. In the research fields of Chemistry, Economics, Physics, and Physiology-Medicine, the corresponding world and US percentages are 27% and 39%, respectively. Among women laureates in the four research fields, the Jewish percentages (world and US) are 38% and 50%, respectively. Of organizations awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, 24% were founded principally by Jews or by people of half-Jewish descent.”<sup>1</sup> Jews currently make up approximately 0.2% of the world's population (2-of-every-1000 people) and 2% of the US population.

By contrast, the Arab League, comprised of 22 countries with a combined population of 422 million, has only been able to snatch 10 Nobel awards, six of which were the “Peace” prize. Two of the peace-prize recipients were Anwar al-Sadat and Yasser Arafat.

Less than a generation ago, Jews in Europe were considered to be “vermin,” and untold numbers were consigned to German experimental facilities and treated like lab rats. Except for the heroics of the Bonhoeffers, Ten Booms, Schindlers and others like them, no nation came to their rescue.

One certain American disgrace that ranks alongside the Salem Witch Trials, Dred Scott, The Trail of Tears, and the Tuskegee Experiment, is The Tragedy of the S.S. St. Louis. Never heard of it?

On the night of November 9, 1938, all hell broke loose across the German Reich. As a result of anti-Semitic pogroms meticulously planned by propaganda minister Joseph Goebbels and other high-level Nazis, more than 250 synagogues were burned, and over 7,000 Jewish businesses were trashed and looted. During a two-day rampage, Jewish schools, homes and hospitals were destroyed and dozens of Jews were killed. The event became known as Kristallnacht, the “Night of Broken Glass.”

“The morning after the pogroms,” according to the United States Holocaust Museum, “30,000 German Jewish men were arrested for the ‘crime’ of being Jewish and sent to concentration camps... Businesses owned by Jews were not allowed to reopen unless they were managed by non-Jews [and] curfews were placed on Jews, limiting the hours of the day they could leave their homes.

“After the ‘Night of Broken Glass,’ life was even more difficult for German and Austrian Jewish children and teenagers. Already barred from entering museums, public playgrounds, and swimming pools, now they were expelled from the public schools. Jewish youngsters, like their parents, were totally segregated in Germany. In despair, many Jewish adults committed suicide. Most families tried desperately to leave.”<sup>2</sup>

But by early 1939, it had become extremely hard for Jews to emigrate. Not only did Germany impose exit fees, but many countries had immigration quotas, making visas difficult to acquire.

On Saturday, May 13, 1939, passengers—some 937—began boarding the S.S. St. Louis, part of the Hamburg-America Line (Hapag) which was docked in Hamburg. All but six passengers were Jewish, and all were traveling as refugees to Cuba to await final clearance to come to America.

In addition to booking fees ranging from 600-800 Reichsmarks, each passenger was required to pay an additional “contingency fee” of 230 Reichsmarks to cover costs for any unplanned return voyage. “As most Jews had been forced out of their jobs and had been charged high rents under the Nazi regime, most Jews did not have this kind of money. Some of these passengers had money sent to them from relatives outside of Germany and Europe while other families had to pool resources to send even one member to freedom.”<sup>3</sup>

As it turned out, the Jewish refugees were holding worthless Cuban landing certificates, sold to them at an inflated price, but outlawed by the Cuban government only days before the refugees left Hamburg. Goebbels had dispatch agents to Havana to stir up anti-Semitism. Fabricating stories of the passengers’ criminal nature and organizing protests, Cuban officials refused to let the refugees disembark.

Without assurance of a haven, the S.S. St. Louis left Cuba sailing close to Florida, where on June 4, it was intercepted by the United States Coast Guard Gunboat #244. Requests for permission to enter U.S. waters were denied. Although media covered the plight of the passengers, the Captain’s urgent appeals to the U.S. State Department to allow the Jewish refugees asylum in the United States were rejected. Even a desperate telegram from the passengers to President Roosevelt went unanswered.

On June 6 at 11:30 PM, the St. Louis headed back to Europe to conclude its fruitless 40-day search for safety. Because of their rejection by the United States and the other nations of the Americas, the Jewish refugees said that they were “weighed in the balance and found wanting.” The only gates open to them were the gates of Hitler’s concentration camps where many were later killed during the holocaust.

Why do we dig up old news at a time like this? Because our Departments of State, Homeland Security, and Immigration and Naturalization are saying “yes, everything seems in order,” when we all know that is not true. A jihad, is being waged primarily against Israel, but also America. Opening U.S. borders to hordes of Islamic fundamentalists while pressing Israel to deal away its inheritance is not just foolish, it is suicidal.

Too much fuss about Jews? Let’s put it this way: Jesus is not a Christian. But He is King of the Jews!
